

CANADIAN PAEDIATRIC
SURVEILLANCE PROGRAM

ADR

Tip of the Month

Adverse drug reactions (ADRs) can take many different forms

Your patient presents with serious or life-threatening:

- haematological or biochemical laboratory results
- mucosal lesions or unusual rashes
- symptoms of undetermined etiology.

Have you considered an adverse drug reaction?

All suspected cases are vital to ADR surveillance.

Please report all suspected adverse drug reactions (ADRs).